THE EMERALD TABLETS OF THOTH THE ATLANTEAN

By
DR. M. DOREAL

When the time came for Thoth to leave Egypt, he erected the Great Pyramid over the entrance to the Great Halls of Amenti, placed in it his records and certain mechanical devices. He then appointed from among the highest of his people, guards to protect his mighty secrets. In later times, the descendents of these guards became the Pyramid Priests while Thoth was deified as the God of Wisdom, the Recorder, by those in the age of darkness which followed his passing. In legend, the Halls of Amenti became the Under-world, the Halls of the Gods where the soul passed after death for judgment. During later ages the ego of Thoth passed into the bodies of men in the manner described in the Tablets. As such he incarnated three times, and in his last incarnation he was known as Hermes, the Thrice-born.

The Brotherhood publications has produced a most attractive binding of Dr. Doreal's translation with a cover design of the original Tablets. The demand for this book on the Atlantean Mysteries has been so great that it is in its eleventh edition.

Color Vibrations

By DR. M. DOREAL
(Part One)

Color, in the ancient world, was a very mysterious thing for color as we know it today was not present. The most ancient records show that distinction of color is of very recent date. Max Muller says, "It is well known that the distinction of color is of recent date; that Xenophanes knew only three colors of the rainbow: purple, red and yellow and that Aristotle speaks of the tri-colored rainbow; that Democritus knew of no more than four colors: black, white, red, and yellow." Geiger says, "that fifteen or twenty thousand years ago, man was conscious of only one color. He could not distinguish any difference in coloration between sky, trees, grass, earth or anything else. He could only distinguish light from darkness."

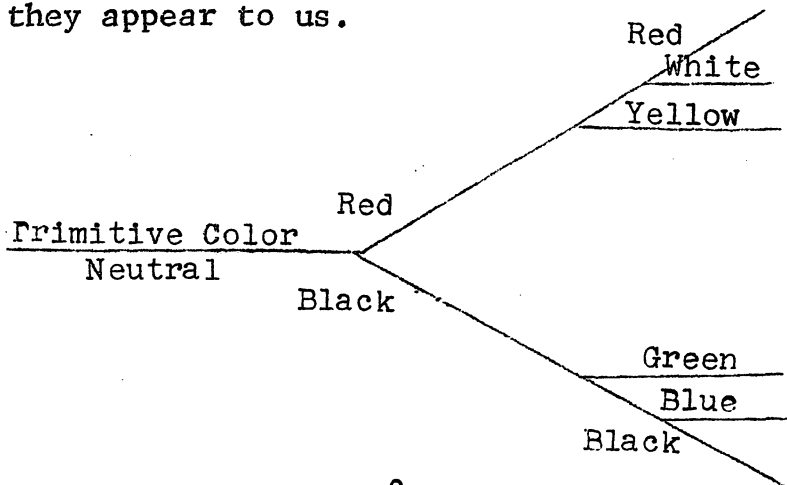

Pictet finds no name for color in early Indo-European language, and Max Muller finds no Sanskrit root-word for any reference to color.

Nowhere in the Bible, Rig-Veda, Zend-Avesta or the Homeric poems do we find the color of the sky mentioned. The Rig-Veda and Zend-Avesta are both largely taken up with descriptions of the sky and heavenly bodies; yet nowhere is there any mention of the color of the sky. In the Bible the sky and heavens are mentioned more than four hundred times, and yet there is no mention of the color of the sky.

In Greece and Asia Minor, where the poems of Homer were composed, the sky is the most beautiful blue of any place upon earth; yet nowhere in the poems of Homer do we find the color of the sky mentioned.

Etymology proves that the word 'blue' is descended from the ancient word, 'black'. The Chinese word, 'Hi-u-an', which now means 'sky-blue', formerly meant 'black'. The word 'nil', which in Persian and Arabic means 'blue', is derived from the name, 'Nile', which means the 'black river'. It is hardly possible that at a time when man recognized only two colors which they called red and black, that these appeared to them as they appear to us.

Under red they included white and yellow and their intermediate tints, while under black they included all shades of green and blue. As sensations of red and black came into existence by the divisions of the original unital color sensation, in process if time these divided; first red divided into red-yellow, then that red into red-white. Black divided into black-green, then to black-blue, and during the last three thousand years, these have split into the enormous number of shades of color we now perceive and name.

Radiant energy or light is visible only between wave length limits of 385 to 760 Mu (ten thousands of millimeter). Light from all ordinary sources, including the sun, arises from energies in various intensities of all wave lengths between these limits, and is termed heterogeneous, that is, in distinction from homogenous: light arising from energy all of one wave length. When heterogeneous light arises from an intensity distribution among the wave lengths which is roughly constant, we have white, gray or neutral light or color. When such light or energy, is passed through a prism or a grating, the constituent energies of varying wave lengths are so spread out, as to result in a series of energies which under normal conditions will awake in a normal eye a series of colors.

Ability to perceive many color-shades indicates high development of the ego for the source of three-dimensional colors is in higher dimensions.

In historical ancient times the ego had not reached the state where it could receive the light which filtered through from other planes. The first mention of the opening of this sense in man was the bow or rainbow of God placed in the sky, as a sign to Noah that the world had become purified and that color, the emanation of astral or celestial light, could now penetrate the literal darkness of the material plane. The ancients who were able to perceive color were those who had lifted their consciousness from the level of their fellows, and this power was in those days looked upon in much the same light that clairvoyance or occult powers are today. For that reason those who had that power never made reference to color in connection with God, the Heavens, or other things pertaining to higher planes. Until the power of perception is expanded, man can never see the greater and more vibrant colors which are an integral part of the celestial harmonics. Thus in ancient days the man who was able to perceive color was more closely attuned to God than his fellows and literally heard unspeakable words that he could not utter to his fellows who lacked his sense of color perception.

In the far past, (and by this I mean before historic times) in other cycles, man attained the full vision of color, and in gaining it also gained the power to look into other planes and dimensions which were penetrated by the various color-energy waves.

In the greater, Macrocosmic World there are waves of light and color, unimaginable in the finite World, and these are glimpsed as celestial harmonics by the enlightened soul which is able to penetrate to the vaster realm where God, the Cosmic Consciousness manifests as Light.

In all great ancient religions and philosophies, God was symbolized as Light, and all emanations from the Supreme Source were in the form of Light. According to ancient, secret teaching, handed down by word of mouth, there were three great primary colors through which God first manifested in the material world and these were yellow, blue and red. The color 'black' was already in the space in which worlds were created and it was upon this black light or color that the primary colors from the Macrocosmic World played to produce creation.

The Brotherhood Newsletter

Dear Students and Friends:

The weather in Shamballa over the weekend was cloudy, cool and rainy. Today (Monday) we are still having a nice slow rain for which we are most grateful.

Dr. W. Whitby gave the Fellowship of the Avatar Services Sunday evening. This message will be printed in book form and mailed to the Fellowship of the Avatar members within the next few days.

We were surely happy to welcome Paul Carlson and Jeanette Sill to the Avatar Meeting Sunday evening. They are new students of the Brotherhood from Boulder, Colorado.

Please remember to address all mail and make out all checks and money orders to the Brotherhood of the White Temple, Route 1, Sedalia, Colorado.

We must have cash contributions for the books orders. We do not have the Office Personnel for C.O.D. or for Credit Orders. Please allow two to three weeks for book delivery. The 20% discount is still available for Brotherhood Members on Book Orders of $10.00 or more (not on the six books for $5.00).

When ordering the Teacher's Class Lessons,

Group Leader Lessons or the Ministers Special Class Lessons be sure to write first for an application for each of these Special Study Groups. Dr. Doreal required this of everyone taking these great lessons.

We are happy to announce that Lesson Number Five of the Minister's Special Class Lessons has gone to the Press. This new publication will soon be in the mail to the First Minister's Class. As soon as the Brotherhood students finish the four and a half years College Course and receive their diploma they are eligible for applying for these Special Lessons.

There is a great opportunity for qualified workers of Truth. Many, many are seeking to know the purpose of life. The Brotherhood of the White Temple Lessons have the answers. If you as a B.W.T. student are interested in becoming a Group Leader, Teacher or Minister, write to Headquarters for Information.

In Cosmic Harmony,

Dr. W. Whitby
